

Protecting gaming rights. Committed to California.

As California Tribes, we are deeply rooted in our state's history and invested in its future. By employing 151,000 Californians and contributing $26.5 billion to the economy each year, Tribes continue to be a vital part of California's economy.

We are here to stay, as we have been for generations. This is our home, and we fiercely protect the land, the people, and the animals that share it with us. Our dedication to California is unwavering.

Committed to California.
