Construction for Infrastructure

January 18-19, 2022

Hosted by:

MISSION

- India is one of the fastest growing construction markets in the world, driven by infrastructure projects. This growth is likely to accelerate further with the launch of the ambitious National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP). A total capital investment of almost $1 trillion has been planned during 2020-25 across construction-intensive sectors such as roads, railways, airports, urban transport and irrigation under the NIP.

- The road sector offers huge opportunities under the Bharatmala programme with a completion target of 35,000 km by 2024-25. The investment envisaged for the sector under the NIP stands at about $496 billion, with almost 4,000 projects. Expressway construction has emerged as one of the priority areas.

- Indian Railways (IR) is planning a capital investment of over $175 billion by 2025. IR plans to complete over 10,000 km of new lines, as well as doubling and gauge conversion works by 2023-24. The upcoming dedicated freight corridors and high-speed rail corridors also represent substantial opportunities.

- In the urban transport segment, a capital investment target of almost $119 billion till 2025 has been set to develop over 220 projects.

- The airport sector offers opportunities worth at least $20 billion with about 90 projects.

- In the port sector, NIP highlights opportunities worth $10 billion in around 80 projects. These include the construction of greenfield ports, container terminals and shipyards.

- Tunnel construction offers significant opportunity for contractors, as well as technology and equipment providers. There is a robust pipeline of at least 875 tunnels, spanning a length of around 2,600 km.

- Overall, while the pace of project execution has improved over the years, the increased level of construction activity has highlighted the need for more efficient contracting practices, the adoption of new and innovative materials, and the deployment of cost-effective construction techniques and state-of-the-art equipment.

- Going forward, the construction industry is expected to offer huge opportunities given the large pipeline of projects and the increased government focus on infrastructure development. The contractors and implementing agencies need to deploy innovative and advanced technologies and digital solutions for fast-tracking project execution.

- The mission of this conference is to discuss the experience and emerging trends in construction; highlight the upcoming construction opportunities in the infrastructure sectors in India; identify the new requirements in terms of design, material, equipment and technology; and understand the unresolved challenges, the next steps and priority areas to ensure faster and more efficient construction practices. It will also offer a platform to technology and equipment providers to showcase their solutions.
