

Vivian Tai

Vivian Tai

Regional Lead and Spokesperson, DELL

Vivian serves as the APJC Regional Lead and Spokesperson for Product Sustainability and Circular Economy at Dell. With her expertise in integrating circular design approaches throughout the entire product lifecycle, she works closely with key stakeholders, policymakers, supply chain and NGOs to influence and help establish both global and regional circularity regulations and standards.

Vivian owns not only professional specialties include product compliance and stewardship, ESG policy, risk management, supply chain sustainability, and program management, but also the amassed experiences on various people management roles throughout her career.

Vivian holds a bachelor's degree in Agri-Chemistry from National Taiwan University and a Master degree of Environmental risk & management from Harvard University.