As a Director of Turnberry Consulting, Paul Roberts has been extensively involved in a wide range of international planning and development projects, specialising in thoroughbred racing and other sports facilities, university campuses and estate-driven developments. He has advised a number of the world’s leading racecourses on development strategy, authoring capital improvement strategies for the Ascot Authority, the New York Racing Association, Flemington Racecourse and York Racecourse.

Roberts has led several research projects and has co-authored a series of books and articles about the field of thoroughbred racing, including Parade: Paddocks Parade Rings Mounting Yards (2016); York Racecourse: Rebuilding the Northern End (2015), which narrates the story of York’s ambitious, £10-million redevelopment; the comprehensive historical survey Racecourse Architecture (2013); and The Spa: Saratoga’s Legendary Race Course (2011), an architectural profile of North America’s oldest sporting venue.

Furthermore, Roberts has spoken frequently on the subject of racecourse design in a wide-variety of international contexts. His past lecture engagements on this theme include the National Sporting Library, Virginia (April 2015), New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing Annual Conference (November 2014), Keeneland Race Course (October 2013 and September 2014) and the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame, Saratoga Springs (August 2013).

Major projects include:
- Strategic advisor to the New York Racing Association for the redevelopment of racing facilities in the State of New York and the Saratoga Race Course capital programme.
- Property advisor to Ascot Authority on the implementation of a planning strategy for the comprehensive development of the racecourse, and advisor on landlord and tenant relationships to facilitate the scheme.
- Advisor to the Victoria Racing Club, undertaking a review of their current masterplan for Flemington Racecourse and providing advice on development strategy.
- Advisor to York Racecourse, providing strategic development advice and planning assistance as the racecourse leadership explore expanding and upgrading the racecourse facilities.
- Strategic advisor to Leopardstown Racecourse, on improvement proposals for the track.
- Advisor to New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing Inc., on a high-level strategy for all courses in New Zealand.
- Strategic advisor to Horse Racing Ireland on the forthcoming development of The Curragh.
- Advisor to the Avondale Jockey Club on the preparation of a development strategy and vision for the future of Avondale Racecourse.
- Advisor to the Horserace Betting Levy Board and the British Horseracing Authority in the creation of a racing degree in Britain.
