The New England Addiction Technology Transfer Center at Brown University

presents:

Clinical Supervision Foundations Course

Online Course
and Face-to-Face Training
The Addiction Technology Transfer Center-New England at Brown University is excited to offer the Addiction Technology Transfer Center (ATTC) Network's new Clinical Supervision Foundations course! This course consists of two interconnected components: an online course and a face-to-face training, and is intended for supervisors in substance use disorder (SUD) treatment and recovery settings. The course totals 30 contact hours and introduces clinical supervisors, along with persons preparing to become supervisors, to the knowledge and skills essential to the practice of supervision.

Participants of the Clinical Supervision Foundations course will first complete a 10 module (14 contact hours) online course. Thus, allowing these individuals to be introduced to theories, definitions, roles, issues and practices germane to developing supervisory skills. Thus, upon completion of the online course, participants will acquire fundamental clinical supervision knowledge and basic skills at their own pace.

The second part of the Clinical Supervision Foundations course is a 14 hour face-to-face training and a two hour worksite assignment (16 contact hours total). It provides participants an opportunity to deepen their understanding of key issues, as well as practice facilitating some of the discussion and skill building components. The worksite assignment includes a review of clinical supervision competencies, a self-evaluation, and the creation of a personal plan to continue developing proficiency in clinical supervision. This assignment is made at the conclusion of the face-to-face training and must be submitted to the trainer(s) prior to receiving a certificate for 16 contact hours.

It is an introductory course intended as a first step in preparing clinicians to provide meaningful supervision. Successful completion of the introductory online course is required for participation in the face-to-face segment of the course.

We are offering you this course free of charge and ask that you participate fully in follow-up and evaluation feedback.

What will be expected from you?

Participants in the Clinical Supervision Foundations course will:

• Participate fully in the course, including completing the online course and attending a two-day face-to-face session
