Are you looking to increase a road’s capacity by widening it? Or, are you thinking about safety improvements like removing a curve in a road? Or, are you hoping to make improvements like increasing the length of a drainage culvert or removing a steep slope? If you said yes to any of these questions, you might be looking to acquire more right of way. Local road-owning agencies seeking more right of way will benefit from this three-day virtual workshop, which will introduce participants to the Federal Uniform Act requirements as it pertains to real estate, explain appraisal requirements and eminent domain appraisal concepts, and overview federal acquisition and relocation requirements.

This course is brought to you at no-cost by the California LTAP Center and FHWA.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: State and Local government employees as well as consultants who work in the transportation decision making process and who value/acquire or manage real estate for federally funded transportation projects.
