

Law Student Writing Competition

on Adam Smith,
The Wealth of Nations,
and the American
Constitutional Order

WIN A CASH PRIZE

First Prize: $7,500

Second Prize: $5,000

Third Prize: $2,500

COMPETITION THEME

The Continued Relevance and Modern Insights of Adam Smith's The Wealth of Nations on Debates in Law and Policy Today—On the Occasion of Its 250th Anniversary, with a Particular Focus on Adam Smith's Impact on the Founders' Enduring Constitutional Design

WHY PARTICIPATE?

Gain Expertise & Feedback

Receive feedback from leading scholars.

Present Your Work

Share your scholarship at a conference at George Mason University Antonin Scalia Law School.

Build Your Network

Connect with judges, scholars, and leaders in the legal and policy communities.

Strengthen Your Credentials

Gain valuable experience and professional skills.

Join the Broader Conversation

Be part of a larger project advancing new scholarship on Adam Smith.

Potential for Publication

Revise your paper for publication in a leading journal.

KEY DATES & DEADLINES

January 18, 2027

Student paper submission deadline

February 15, 2027

Winners will be notified

April 2027

One-day conference at George Mason University Antonin Scalia Law School (Arlington, VA)

SCAN FOR MORE DETAILS AND TO SUBMIT A PAPER

Sponsored by the Law & Economics Center at George Mason University Antonin Scalia Law School

Questions? Please contact
LECManne@gmu.edu