

SBPRJ Event Report

About the event:

“Territórios do Setting” happened on the 8th and 9th of October and the events aim was to promote and stimulate a debate about the psychoanalytic setting during the pandemic.

There were analysts from different countries and different societies (from IPA and not) invited to the event as a way to contribute to a vibrant debate and adding various cultural perspectives to our conversation.

The event coordinator was Admar Horn, training analyst from SBPRJ.

It happened as follows:

Oct 8th

Marília Aisenstein - SPParis

Benilton Bezerra – CPRJ - Círculo Psicanalítico do Rio de Janeiro

Oct 9th

Mariano Horenstein - APCórdoba

Wania Cidade - SBPRJ

Leonardo Francischelli – SBPdePA

For each session there was a presentation of the theoretical/clinical paper that lasted for an hour followed by a one-hour debate with the public. There was simultaneous translation the Horenstein/Aisenstein session.

65 people attended. They were psychoanalysts and psychologists.

Publicity was made through our Society’s social media without CAPSA funds.

It was a very satisfying outcome for all of us and we are grateful to CAPSA’s funding.
