

The webinar on April 9th 2021, was attended by 100 people interested in hearing from colleagues who raised the following questions:

1. Social trauma.
2. Attention to the population of hospitals to avoid waiting lists in them.
3. Attention to the native population with a combination of techniques including healers and religious practitioners, psychologists and psychoanalysts.
4. Attention in emergency situations.
5. Community projects of the study group in charge of the organization.

The meeting was opened by the president of FEPAL, the scientific director and the director of community and culture committee.

The meeting had simultaneous translation in three languages and a video was projected in which the theoretical framework of the Fepal study group was reflected.

The organization and technical support of the event was in charge of the study group.
