

Dr. Xavier Chen is President of the Beijing Energy Club, Vice President of BP China, and Chairman of Energy Committee, European Chamber of Commerce in China. He is author of two influential books Changing Our Future by Changing Energy - China route to tackle the challenges (Xinhua Press, 2008) and Developing China's Natural Gas Market – the energy policy challenges (IEA/OECD, 2002).

Before joining BP in 2003, Dr. Chen worked at the International Energy Agency (IEA), Paris. From October 2000 to July 2003, he was IEA's China Program Director and developed the Agency's relationship with China. He was Chief of Staff to the IEA Executive Director from 1997-2000, and contributed to the formulation of the Agency's policy objectives. Dr. Chen joined IEA in 1996 as Senior Economist, Division of Asia-Pacific and Latin America, responsible for developing a program of co-operation with India and South-East Asian countries. His efforts led to the formalization of IEA-India relationships in the form of a Declaration for Co-operation.

From 1993 to 1996, he worked for the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs, at the Energy Program, Asian Institute of Technology in Bangkok, Thailand. He held faculty positions as Assistant Professor and Associate Professor, and served as consultant for the Asian Development Bank and UNDP.

Dr. Chen worked as a research engineer at the Institute of Energy Economics and Policy, French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS) in Grenoble, France from 1988 to 1993.

He obtained his Bachelor of Engineering degree from Zhejiang University in 1985, Master of Engineering degree from the Asian Institute of Technology and a Ph.D. in Energy Economics from the University of Grenoble, France in 1993.